

Red Plan Would Split Germany, Says Herter

'Permanent Division' Held Only Result

GENEVA (UPI) — Secretary of State Christian Herter branded Russia's draft peace treaty today as a "package proposal for the permanent division of Germany."

Authoritative conference sources said the secretary delivered this sweeping denunciation of the Russian plan to the Big Four Conference after pressing privately for secret and intimate talks designed to open genuine East-West bargaining over Berlin and Germany.

THE SOURCES SAID Herter spoke for about 15 to 20 minutes and gave another detailed review of the West's own cold war package peace plan which offered Russia global troop cuts and security in Europe in exchange for a Berlin new deal and reunification of Germany.

At the same time, the secretary was said to have explained again in painstaking fashion why the West is determined to continue to respect Russia's own package plan. The West insists this would mean keeping Germany permanently divided and condemn 17 million East Germans to permanent Red rule.

BRITISH FOREIGN Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, the sources said, backed up Herter's renewed attack on the Soviet plan.

Earlier, Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy arrived here from Washington to serve as senior advisor to Herter and said in an airport statement that it is up to the Russians to decide whether there will be trouble over Berlin. McElroy said normal precautions had been taken by American military forces in the vicinity of Berlin, but added he did not expect any difficulty.

PREVIOUSLY, THERE were indications that the Big Four Conference, in which East and West are tightly deadlocked on rival plans for Germany and Berlin, may soon get down to hard-tacks bargaining in secret.

Herter sent an invitation this morning to the other two western foreign ministers and to Russia's Andrei Gromyko to have dinner at his villa Thursday night.

THE INVITATION was not just a social one. It was designed primarily to enable East and West to get to grips at last with the problems facing them without the presence of a whole roomful of diplomats and the knowledge that almost every word they said would be published and broadcast to the world.

The genuine horse-trading which is the real business of every major international gathering, would be done over the dinner tables and the coffee and liqueurs in the privacy of delegation villas without a horde of officials and interpreters in attendance.

GIRL, 3, BITTEN BY SNAKE AT HOME

Patricia "Pattie" Milkie, 3-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George Milkie, 4193 S. San Rafael, was treated at Desert Hospital yesterday afternoon after being bitten by a snake.

Her condition is reported as being "good" today. Little Milkie, the child's mother, was credited with saving her little girl's life by quick action and calmness.

THE CHILD was riding her bicycle near her garage yesterday afternoon when the snake struck her in the thigh.

Mrs. Milkie rushed to the child's aid, cut a line between the two puncture marks, fastened a tourniquet in place, and rushed her to the hospital.

Treatment at the hospital disclosed that the fangs of the snake were still in the child, but emergency treatment by Mrs. Milkie minimized the spread of the poison.

SEVERAL SNAKE BITE cases have been handled by local doctors this season, it was reported. Dr. C. E. Smith at the Palm Springs Desert Museum told The Desert Sun today that snakes are drawn to the yards of local homes by the warmth of concrete and asphalt and to feed on bugs and lizards drawn to homes by lights.

"Snakes are much more probable in the sparsely populated areas of town," said Dr. Smith, "but once in a while you find they venture into heavily populated areas. There is nothing—poisons or traps—that can be used to stop them, and the only precaution that could be taken is to have your yard walled in tightly and to keep piles of trash or other things, under which the snakes could hide, out of the yard."

6 Killed in Japan

Crippled Plane Hits Barracks

FUKUOKA, Japan (UPI) — A crippled U. S. Air Force jet prop air freighter crashed into an Air Force barracks at Ashiya Air Base while landing today, killing six men and injuring 13.

One of the eight men aboard the plane was killed and seven injured. Five men in the barracks died and six were injured when the huge four-engine C130 Hercules overran the runway and plunged into the barracks.

THE BARRACKS, built in an "E" shape, were set afire by the exploding plane and destroyed. The buildings belonged to the 483rd Flightline Maintenance Squadron at the base outside this south Japanese city.

An airman second class was credited with saving the lives of fellow airmen aboard the plane. He stood at the door of the burning plane, slapping his friends on the back and urging them to hurry.

"If it wasn't for this guy," said one of the survivors, "we wouldn't have made it."

THE NAME OF THE heroic airman was not disclosed.

One of the plane's engines was disabled when it crashed. Fires burned for several hours afterward.

An Air Force spokesman said all but three of the between 175 and 225 men housed in the barracks were accounted for.

Names of the critically injured and dead were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

THE AIR FORCE announced the names of the 13 seriously injured, suffering lacerations, bruises and minor burns.

They included Capt. James Smith, Santa Paula, Calif.; and Airman 2C Donald M. Kennedy, Tacoma, Wash.

All of these men were assigned to the Ashiya Air Base.

The plane was returning from a flight to Iwo Jima when it overshot the runway. It was trying to pull up for a second landing attempt when it crashed.

Weather Violence Due To Taper Off

Tornadoes Hit Tuesday in Two States

United Press International
Weather violence was expected to taper off today following a flurry of tornadoes in the Midwest and Florida.

Several tornadoes struck in Central Wisconsin late Tuesday, and two twisters touched down in Florida, one of them skirting the big Pensacola Naval Air Station.

A FARM WAS damaged near Lancaster, Wis., by a twister which touched down three times, ripping down utility lines and blocking highways with fallen trees.

At least three other tornadoes were reported in Wisconsin, but damage was confined to rural areas and no one was injured.

Golf ball-sized hail battered the town of Keshew, Iowa, Tuesday night and baseball-sized hail was reported at Prairie Du Chien, Wis.

FLASH FLOODS caused heavy damage in Missouri, Wisconsin and Iowa. Floodwaters from the swollen Black Snake Creek in St. Joseph, Mo., claimed a second life when a man was electrocuted while repairing a telephone line.

Earlier, a man drowned when he was swept away by the waters which climbed as high as six feet Monday night and early Tuesday.

Damage in the St. Joseph flood was estimated at more than one million dollars.

Final Hearing Dates on Indian Bills Set Today

Special to The Desert Sun

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Final dates for the hearing in Washington on Congressman D. S. Saund's bill to equalize allotments of Indian land on the Agua Caliente Indian Reservation at Palm Springs have been set for June 4-5, it was announced today.

The Congressman said that the hearings will be conducted by the House Indian Affairs subcommittee, of which he is a member.

Different viewpoints on details in the bill will be presented by Department of the Interior witnesses, representatives of the tribe, the City of Palm Springs and other interested parties, Saund said.

"I know that every witness will receive a sympathetic hearing from Chairman James A. Haley, of Florida and my other colleagues on the subcommittee," Saund added.

Gun Battle Ends With Three Dead

LAFAYETTE, La. (UPI) — A crazed Negro armed with an ancient shotgun killed a woman and two policemen today before he died after an hour-long gun battle.

Joe Victor killed Mrs. Joseph DuCharme and then dragged two white children into a nearby house. Police rushed to the house and two of them were shot dead on the front porch. Two others including the chief of police, were wounded.

He freed the two white children at the height of the battle. They escaped unharmed.

HOFFA'S THREAT BRINGS DEMANDS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Teamsters President James R. Hoffa has touched off new demands for tough labor legislation by threatening to combat a union anti-trust proposal with a nationwide strike.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Senate Rackets Committee said the threat has confirmed the danger which he had tried to warn the nation about when the Senate was considering its labor reform bill earlier this year.

McClellan denounced the Teamsters boss as a would-be dictator and Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) accused Hoffa of trying to place himself above the law.

Members of the AFL-CIO executive council also said privately that Hoffa's outburst dimmed chances of success for their campaign to get House changes in the Senate-approved reform bill.

AFL-CIO President George Meany was reported to be distressed by Hoffa's statement. Other AFL-CIO leaders called the threatened walkout a stupid gesture that would serve to rally anti-union forces in the House.

Following the discussion, members of the audience will be given an opportunity to ask questions—on paper—of the panel members.

Teachers who will participate in the panel are Ralph Watt, Paul Summers, John Kellogg, Henry Greeley, Mrs. Lucille Humphreys and Ron Pidot.

Ball Leads In City; Lamb Out of Town

Record Number Of Votes Cast In School Election

Two voting factions — one in Palm Springs, the other in rural areas — swept incumbent Donald Williams from his seat on the Board of Education yesterday and recorded one of the highest vote totals in district history while performing the task.

Public relations executive Everett Ball garnered the big portion of votes in the four municipally-located precincts and Cathedral City building contractor Berton Lamb won strong support in the four suburban voting locations. Both will be seated on July 1.

THE FOUR CITY polling places — at Katherine Finchy, Frances Stevens, Cahuilla and Cielo Vista schools — gave Ball a solid 805 votes. This was 233 ahead of Williams' 642 total in the city precincts. Lamb, meanwhile, registered 564 votes in Palm Springs votes.

Out of town — at Desert Hot Springs, Rancho Mirage, Thousand Palms and Cathedral City — it was a different story. Lamb netted 678 votes in the four locations, more than twice as much as Ball's 301 second place total. Williams managed only a paltry 269 votes in the out-of-town balloting.

IN CATHEDRAL CITY itself — Lamb's home town — the contractor piled up 423 votes, while next best (Williams) was settling for just 128 votes. This was done through the ancient but off-practice method of "one-shooting" — voters casting but a single vote although entitled to two choices. As a result of this, Lamb led the ticket with a total of 1,242 votes. Ball had 1,166 and Williams 902. Mrs. Alice Scully registered 535 votes and landscaper Paul Holm netted 170 ballots.

William Mason, running unopposed for a single seat on the Coachella Valley Junior College District board, actually led all candidates with a 1,438 vote.

A TOTAL OF 2,274 votes were cast by the approximately 6,000 registered voters, representing two new records for school district elections. They were:

—A record number of votes cast.

—A record percentage of registered voters balloting.

Ball, who has been a Villager since 1954, owns his own public relations and advertising firm here and was formerly a public information officer for the UN. Lamb owns his own contracting business.

Supreme Court Ruling

2 County Work Laws Are Illegal

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Both labor and management claimed victories today as the result of a California Supreme Court ruling against county right-to-work ordinances.

The court ruled unanimously Tuesday that a San Benito County ordinance was unconstitutional and voted 4-2 against a similar law enacted by Trinity County.

HEARING DATE on the constitutionality of the Palm Springs right-to-work law has not been set by the court.

In separate decisions totaling 119 pages, the court held that the local ordinances were in conflict with state law, which fully covered the labor relations field.

WHILE THE COURT ruled the local right-to-work ordinance was illegal, it also termed illegal any picketing aimed at organizing

SWIMMING SINGERS from Sweetwater High School at National City frolic in the Las Palmas Hotel pool before appearing on stage at the Palm Springs High School auditorium in the Southern California Vocal Association Music Festival. These 75 singers joined groups from Palm Springs High, Temple City, Boulder City, Rim of the World High School, Fullerton, Montebello and Los Angeles in a program that climaxed with a vocal finale involving all 750 members of the various student vocal groups represented. (Desert Sun Photo).

SOME 700 STUDENTS, who trooped into Palm Springs for the 20th Annual Southern California Vocal Association Festival here Friday, cheered these men when they were called to the stage following the concert. From left, adjudicators Philip Ellithorpe and Joseph Landon, George W. Burt, Fullerton High; Harold David Weiss, Rim of

VILLAGE A CAPELLA CHOIR MAKES GOOD SHOWING AT MUSIC FESTIVAL

By GEORGE LAINE
Palm Springs High School's A Capella Choir acquitted itself nobly in company with six of Southern California's finest prep choruses at the 20th Annual Southern California Vocal Association Festival held Friday in the high school auditorium.

And, not too strangely for Palm Springs, there was a marked lack of parental attendance at the event—which was presented without charge.

THE VILLAGE STUDENTS, who have nearly matured in "Oklahoma" during this semester, really had their work cut out for them. Although the SCVA event is not a competitively-judged affair, it is difficult not to rate choir against choir.

Alex Hammond's charges had to follow what has long been considered one of the top half a dozen high school music groups in the state—the John Burroughs High School A Capella under the baton of Dwight Martin.

TO COMPLICATE THE job, the 125-voice Burroughs choir delivered one of the most impressive musical offerings this reviewer has heard from any vocal group this season. Scott's "Creation," performed with a spine-tingling narration by a young man named Danny Richards who has a wonderfully gifted speaking voice.

The performance left the audience—which was composed of the 700 visiting students and scarcely anyone else—momentarily stunned. Then the applause threatened to loosen the auditorium plaster.

INTO THIS SITUATION came the Palm Springs A Capella Choir with "a short scene from 'Oklahoma'" and it could have been the biggest anti-climax of the year. It wasn't.

The local group, with 13 members absent for one reason or another, gave a spirited rendition of the Oklahoma theme that had most of the visiting students agog. Most often heard comment on the way out of the auditorium was the expression by the guests that they wished their school would try a musical comedy.

FOR THE RECORD, the two adjudicators — Long Beach Wilson's Philip Ellithorpe, and San Bernardino City School's Dr. Joseph Landon — rated the Palm Springs unit highly. They liked the opening song — "A Song of Greeting" — and rated it superior. I share the view. It was a rousing, dynamic opening selection, a well-chosen number to launch the evening's songfest.

They criticized the second selection, "Rise Up My Love," for lack of balance and blend. Hammond explained this partially by noting that five tenors were absent. The third selection, "Mistons, Lovely Maiden," was given superior ratings by both judges, and I concur.

THIS CHOIR AT Palm Springs High School has rounded into a well-disciplined organization through the year. It has also been marked by what appears to be a real joy in the singing of these selections.

Graduations will hurt Hammond's unit next year but he should remain enough of a nucleus to rebuild another fine vocal group in the fall.

There were some additional high points in this concert. The other two selections sung by the Burroughs group were beautifully done.

The young man demonstrated a good understanding of the character of the Bruckner, a trick that has successfully eluded some major caliber conductors. The Fullerton choir set the work up well, approaching the opening prayer in a softly-voiced manner that magnified and enhanced the magnificence of the wondrous choral structure that followed.

Bruckner at his best — and this little prayer is a sample of that — is fantastic music. It puts the same chills up and down my spine that the "Star-Spangled Banner" did some years ago.

THE OTHER choirs performing — from Western High School, Sweetwater High School, Upland High School and Rim of the World High School — were also distinguished by a broadness of concept that saw a wide variety of music performed.

It was a highly enjoyable musical evening and I'm sure that the handful of Villagers who turned out for it were as rewarded for their time as I was.

It also follows that the rest of the community — parents and supposed music lovers, specifically — lost an opportunity to hear some very good music. It sounds, at this point, as though I'm harping about this lack of interest in the music of the high school (and junior high school) musicians and singers. It sounds that way because that is exactly what I'm doing.

IDYLLWILD — A unique way for teachers and college students to work for upper division and graduate credits and enjoy a mountain area vacation is offered by ISOMATA, The Idyllwild School of Music and Arts.

A series of practical workshops by famous artists and teachers is available in the graphic arts, crafts, drama, dance and music.

FROM JUNE 29 to Aug. 7, three two-week workshops are offered in all departments. Drawing, painting and graphics are taught by Harry Sternberg, distinguished American artist who teaches at the Student Art Center League, New York. Sternberg had a successful one-man show of his desert and mountain scenes this winter.

Joseph Young, Los Angeles mosaic artist of note, will teach a new course in mosaics for the first time in ISOMATA. Creative exploration of crafts materials including leather, metal, wood and jewelry will be directed by Young, Atalao and Lora Steere.

SUSAN PETERSON, associate professor of fine arts at USC, will again conduct the workshop in ceramics. This course includes pottery making by hand, throwing, glazing, slip decoration and the use of the kiln.

Two credits per week workshop may be earned or the workshops may be taken by adult vacationers just for fun.

Further information may be obtained by writing the Idyllwild Arts Foundation, Idyllwild.

City Planners To Have Four Items on Agenda

Four matters have been listed on the agenda for Wednesday's session of the Palm Springs Planning Commission.

Under old business the commission will consider an application by Dale Neale and James Frank for tentative approval of Palm Springs Gateway Estates, and a request from the California Electric Power Company for an extension of 30 days on its temporary permit for a substation in section 14.

Calestic reported that that extension of time was necessary due to delay in the delivery of transformers because of a strike at the manufacturers plant.

Under new business the commission will make recommendations on required procedures for lot split in the Vista Del Monte tract, and will act on a request for determination on used car lot signs and will discuss the possibility of an ordinance change permitting used car lots.

Church Women Install Officers

PALM DESERT — Installation of officers of the Palm Desert Community Church Women's Association was highlighted with a swimming party and luncheon at the Silver Spur Ranch home of Mrs. Cal Holdsworth.

The Rev. Warren McClain, pastor, installed Mrs. Thomas R. Campbell as president; Mrs. Mortimer Barnes, vice president; Mrs. Charles Kincaide, secretary; and Mrs. Tom Brown, treasurer.

The nation's first alternating current power system went into operation on March 20, 1890, when William Stanley, a Westinghouse engineer, closed a switch that lighted up the main street of Barrington, Mass.

Talented Dancer 'Character' Too

By GEORGE LAINE

For five and a half years, Betty Jo Huston did her acrobatic dance routines as a member of the Spike Jones gang, an assemblage somewhat notorious for its zany, madcap antics.

Some of it rubbed off on Betty Jo.

NOW SHARING THE marquee with the Bonaires and Bobby Sargent in the Chi Chi's Starlite Room, the trim, chestnut-haired beauty could pass for almost any other trim, chestnut-haired beauty. Until she opens her mouth, that is. Then it's like Spike and Company in action.

"I guess I'm kind of a character," said Betty Jo yesterday, over lunch at the Town and Country Restaurant here. It wasn't exactly lunch.

"I just got up," she said "I'll have ham and eggs."

BETTY JO HUSTON isn't like just any old acrobat you run into on a night club bill. She started young, like most of them do, but for entirely different reasons.

"I had too much energy as a kid," she explained. "I had to take up dancing or become a juvenile delinquent."

So she studied hard and when she was 17 left her native Bakersfield for Los Angeles. She studied more, took up voice, too.

"I dropped that quick," she said with a sigh. "No talent."

SPIKE JONES GOT the word on Betty Jo Huston and snatched her from movie bit work into a featured spot with his touring and television company.

That turned out to be a turning point for the pint-sized (five-foot, 120-pounds) acrobat.

"I learned a lot," she said, "and I met my husband—George Rock—while I worked with Spike."

Rock, it will be recalled instantly, is the one with the squeaky, high voice on all of the special effects.

THE SQUEAKY, HIGH voice may be raised in plaintive cries at this moment since Betty Jo stuck him with baby sitting chores whilst she pranced off to Palm Springs and her current Chi Chi gig.

"He's watching over our eight-year-old daughter, our six-year-old son, a boxer and poodle who hate each other and an Early American house that consistently needs lawn mowing."

"He makes a wonderful mother," she said.

BETTY JO FIGURES someone got the cards of chance mixed up when she was born a girl.

"For years," she said wistfully, "I've wanted to be five-six and a boy."

"Boys can get away with anything and it's so boring to be a girl."

She compensates by being an avid football fan, a devotee of sport car racing and "just any real action sport." She and husband George go to most of the events with Billy Bartey, the mid-gut who cavorts through, in, over and about the Spike Jones shows. "When he gets excited at a football game," Betty Jo giggled at the thought, "he grabs George and me by the shoulder and pulls himself up high so he can see. It's a riot."

NOTHING'S SERIOUS for Betty Jo. She hasn't seen a thing that she couldn't—sooner or later—get around to laughing at and this philosophical outlook is directly transmitted in her current Chi Chi act.

She gets across to an audience with a series of grimaces, smiles, winks and other facial expressions that routinely align the entire audience with her.

She also works, strangely enough, with most of the lights up. That's so she can see the people in the audience, kid the ones she figures can stand a kidding and generally work directly at her house.

"I hate to dance when I feel that there's an entire houseful of people out there wearing agonized looks," she said.

She needn't worry. There hasn't been an agonized look in sight during any part of her show here.

ELECTION PURITY BILL NOT EXPECTED

By JAMES ANDERSON

United Press International
SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Whatever happened to the governor's "purity of elections" bill?

It's a good question to ask in the Legislature these days—but it is a little difficult to get a straight answer.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, carrying out pledges he made in his campaign last year and in his inaugural address, caused to be introduced in the Assembly on Jan. 14 a bill its sponsors, at least, dubbed "purity of elections."

WHAT IT SET OUT to do was to compel candidates for public office to make a complete accounting to the voters of all the money collected on their behalf for an election campaign and disclose all the money they spent and from whom it was received.

Assemblyman Gordon H. Winton, Jr., (D-Merced), the Democratic whip and staunch backer of Governor Brown, handled the bill for the administration.

AFTER LOWER HOUSE committee action, the bill went before the full Assembly and was passed over to the Senate by a resounding vote of 72-4.

Keeping in mind the fact that similar election reform bills died in 1955 and 1957 in the Senate, the script now becomes a little difficult to follow.

Instead of being referred to the Elections Committee for hearing, the bill was sent to the Governmental Efficiency Committee, a sort of catch-all Senate committee which frequently is called upon to handle the "hot ones."

ASSEMBLYMAN WINTON appeared before the committee May 6 to present his bill.

The committee heard little evidence for or against the bill and its chairman, Sen. Luther Gibson

(D-Vallejo), announced the measure had been referred to a subcommittee for further hearing. Winton said he wrote Gibson asking that he be notified of the names of the members of the subcommittee so he could ask for a hearing on his bill. He said he had not received a reply.

GIBSON SAID HE did not recall receiving the letter, but he said he had appointed Sens. Randolph Collier (R-Yreka), James J. McBride (D-Ventura) and Richard J. Dolwig (R-Redwood City) to give the bill a "full and complete hearing." He said the appointments were made soon after Winton appeared before the committee two weeks ago.

Collier has been in Washington all week, and McBride and Dolwig said they were awaiting word from the subcommittee chairman as to when the trio would meet.

Brown himself admitted to reporters recently he had been told his election reform bill "was going to run into trouble in the Senate."

Right now, the Legislature and the governor seem to be concentrating on the "big issues"—water, budget, taxes. You may have to wait until adjournment day, June 19, to read the final chapter on "purity of elections."

'One by Land, Two by Sea,' Liz, Eddie, Kim

PORTOFINO, Italy (UPI)—Celebrity watchers at this swank Riviera resort today signalled one by land and two by sea.

Actress Kim Novak dropped in unexpectedly from Milan about the same time honeymooners Elizabeth Taylor and Eddie Fisher turned up in their luxury yacht, the Olinto.

THERE WAS NO indication that the three stars planned to meet. Miss Taylor and Fisher had made an overnight journey from Cannes.

The new Mrs. Fisher slept late, but Eddie left the yacht early for a short walk around the village—a pretty little fishing town that was turned almost overnight into a millionaires' playground. He refused to talk to newsmen.

HIS SECRETARY reported that the couple would spend two days in Portofino, then return to Nice and Cannes, where a rendezvous with Miss Taylor's three children by previous marriages is expected.

Miss Novak went to a small hotel after her arrival here and also was unavailable to reporters.

Nixon Takes On Press Secretary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The man who probably would be White House news secretary if Vice President Richard M. Nixon won the presidency is joining Nixon's staff as special press assistant in June.

He's Herbert G. Klein, 41, editor of the San Diego Union, a native Californian and long-time friend to the vice president.

KLEIN'S APPOINTMENT, timed to have him lend a hand in preparations for Nixon's July trip to Moscow, fills a gap in the vice president's staff. It also marks a turning point in Nixon's continuing build-up for the GOP presidential nomination.

Washington newsmen covering the pre-1960 presidential candidate maneuvers have expected Klein to be redrafted by Nixon for 1960's "big push."

Klein, whose paper is in the Copley group, served as Nixon's assistant press secretary in the 1956 campaign and as his press secretary in the congressional campaign of 1958.

SINCE LAST DECEMBER, when

William G. Key returned to the aviation industry after a year with Nixon, the vice president has been without a formal press secretary.

Klein has been editor of the San Diego Union since January. Before then he served as its executive editor, associate editor and editorial page editor. He is a University of Southern California graduate who now lives in La Jolla with his wife and two daughters.

United States Nearing Goal Of Full Employment Without War

Reports that unemployment is rapidly falling below the 4,000,000 mark is the most encouraging note in the economic healthiness of the nation in many years.

The further forecast that another million will be in new jobs by October of this year, reducing the unemployed total to an all-time low for a generation past of 3,000,000, borders almost on the unbelievable. Certainly it will be one of the greatest economic feats of the century should it be achieved.

When one considers that the jobless total includes more than 2,500,000 persons who are "unemployable" due to types of incapacitations such as injuries, physical disability, mental unfitness, nervous disabilities and many other ailments, it can be readily seen that it is almost impossible to reduce the national unemployment total below the 3,000,000 mark.

In these times when automatic machines are replacing hand labor on such a wide scale, and when the upward surge of population is increasing the supply of workers at the rate of nearly a million "new" job seekers each year, it is doubly difficult to provide the steadily rising total of additional jobs required day by day to maintain steady employment for practically all of the now nearly 70,000,000 American workers.

The fact that this goal of full-employment has been so nearly attained in time of peace, without millions of men being taken out of civilian jobs for duty in the armed forces, and without the temporary stimulus of wartime production in industries, conclusively shows that it is possible to establish national prosperity and continue to maintain it at record high levels without "resorting" to war.

This is all the more necessary and vital since the advent of atomic warfare because not only prosperity but the very existence of our nation and the world at large are now dependent upon the continued maintenance of peace.

To be nearing the long sought goal of full employment during time of peace presages a great victory in our national effort to establish a sound and permanent prosperity.

Mixed Grill

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Sauce for the goose. Sauce for the Gander. Earlier this session there was a hassle over the secrecy of the Senate payrolls. Anybody with a couple of Capitol Hill service stripes could predict how it would end. It ended as expected, by the payrolls remaining secret. The argument made by a respected Senate spokesman was that the lady stenographers would take to fusing and hair-pulling from jealousy if they knew what the others were getting.

Well, it turns out that the Eisenhower Administration can play that game, too. The other day Under Secretary Douglas Dillon was explaining the policy of keeping the lid on Military Assistance information. The purpose was not entirely that of mystifying the Russians.

Our allies, like the Capitol Hill stenographers, would get miffed, said Dillon, if it appeared that "one country was favored at the expense of another." Maybe that's a good way to keep the gals and guys from squawking, but it sounds like a loony way to run the world.

Turk Eat Turk: Senator Bill Fulbright was in the role of "Young Turk" when he came over from the House of Representatives in 1945. As a freshman Senator, he busted from the ranks and called for the resignation of his party chief and national leader, President Harry Truman. As a Senate investigator, Fulbright was pretty rough on some of the Truman cronies and agencies in those merry days of the mink-coat scandals.

AS LATE AS LAST January, although by then an established and respected figure in the Senate and practically a household word as a foreign policy savant, Fulbright was the beneficiary of a Youth Movement. At 54, Fulbright replaced the 91-year-old Theodore Green as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

But Youth marches on, lest the generations fail, and who should turn up on Foreign Relations but the two youngest Senators. They are Frank Church of Idaho, born in 1924 and Russell Long of Louisiana, born in 1918. In a recent hearing, the Chairman tried more than once to shorten Church's questioning of a witness. Fulbright said at first that the queries belonged in executive sessions, that Church's curiosity was "questionable" or at least "marginal."

IN THE COURSE of these avuncular chidings, Fulbright remarked that the young Idahoan "has not been on the committee long." This caused the young Louisiana, Russell Long, to make the acid rejoinder that "even junior members have a right to ask questions even if the chairman doesn't agree." It was a young Turk revolt against the former Young Turk, grown older.

Better part of Valor. Nothing is more fascinating than the chess play of statecraft. Like many redoubtable Southern Senators in the past, Herman Talmadge of Georgia is masterful in the game of deliberately losing a skirmish in order to win the bigger battle. Twice of late, Talmadge has pulled a swift and skilled maneuver, seeming to give up ground, but actually gaining a superior position.

TALMADGE AND all State-wide officers elected in Georgia are beneficiaries of the County Unit System. Like our national Electoral College, the Georgia plan allows the communities (rather than the gross population) to choose the top leaders. For many years the method has given Georgia the best Senatorial pair in the Union. Coupled with a State law which prevents a Governor from succeeding himself, it has kept the gubernatorial personnel at an enviable high.

But the liberals and populists have been pressing to abolish the system, so as to give the cities and Labor unions more weight in elections. The abolitionists are making progress, and to thwart them, Talmadge has come out for a proposal to modify the unit system in order to preserve it. His plan would possibly grant additional unit votes to the more populous counties, but under no circumstances would it reduce any counties or shift the present balance of power. It has made Georgia conservatives very nervous.

SIMILARLY, ON the national scene, Talmadge has sacrificed a few pawns in order to checkmate the opposition. The Senator's proposed Constitutional Amendment (S. J. Res. 32) has alarmed some fellow-Southerners. It seems to say that racial integration is all right for those who want it.

The Talmadge Amendment provides that public school administration "shall be vested exclusively" in State and local governments. Most Southerners regard racial mixing as inherently wrong and repugnant. They have expressed to this reporter much uneasiness about Talmadge, whose chess plays seem daring and dangerous. But they needn't worry. Talmadge is always several moves ahead of the opposition.—Holmes Alexander

This Side of The Sun By Phat

Smog now is Offensive to the nose
But soon it may
Smell just like a rose.

This being the middle of the week it is time to review some of the news items noted while reading between pet TV shows or baseball broadcasts.

THAT SMOG ITEM above stems from a dispatch from Cleveland which should interest Los Angeles and should be filed away for future reference by city council and/or Chamber of Commerce.

You know how unpleasant automobile exhaust gasses smell and how, more and more, they are blaming these exhaust fumes for the nasty smog.

AND IF YOU have ever trailed a big bus down the highway, you know that exhaust smell isn't pretty.

But it could be. This story from Cleveland set forth that the city is mixing perfume with the fuel used in its transit buses.

The idea is to make the exhaust smell nicer.

THAT IDEA could help in telling strangers what bus to take to get to where they want to go.

Instead of saying take the Number 5 line or the H line, they'll say:
"Oh, you want the Rose Run," or maybe Lavender Line and instead of just No. 5, it will be Channel No. 5.

Could even be the Arpeggio line.

ALWAYS THE ONE who believes in giving credit where credit is due, want to add right here that the names of any perfumes used above were taken from a long list, courtesy of Mrs. G.

However, she rather cast a damper on my idea of naming the bus lines after perfumes.

"Supposing the guy who asks directions has a bad head cold?" she asked.

THEY CALL ME an old grouch and maybe I am, but there's a new trend on radio and TV commercials that sort of irks me.

That's the guy who interrupts the picture or messes up the broadcast with a commercial. He's never seen you and doesn't know you from Adam's off ox.

But he booms out a cheerful "Hi!" and then goes on to extol his sponsor's product.

A dignified "Good evening" or even a polite "hello" might make me listen.

But that hail-fellow-well-met hot "Hi" leaves me cold.

I always wince, figuring the guy is going to step out of the radio or TV and slap me on my bursitis shoulder.

COMING TO THINK about it, who does know Adam's off ox? Or even the other one?

But, speaking about Biblical times, I read this one the other day while reaching for the fly swatter.

"Why didn't Noah swat those two flies while he had the chance?"

STAN DELAPLANE'S Postcard

Here I sit, full of flu and barely able to climb over the discarded Kleenex. Punished for my sins, especially for bragging.

It seems during a gayer moment, I chattered about what a pioneer I was.
"We all go camping," I said grandly, "and sleep on the ground."
What gets into me anyway? To talk like that.

THE POINT NOW is how to avoid the Outdoor Life—I think a whiff of outdoor life would end what little indoor life is left to me, that is my belief.

"I did not mean this week!" I cried. Heavens - to Betsy. I am a mere shell with the flu bugs rearing me out.

"EVEN WHEN I recover, I shall have to treat myself carefully for weeks and weeks. Conquering slowly and carefully with my children bringing me broth and those pickles I love so well and —"

Well, it seems I PROMISED. The son and heir is already in his Indian suit. And the dog has been washed for the journey. The minute I am better, the minute I can life the gruel to my lips, everybody is ready to go.

I DID A SPELL of camping in youthful and more resilient days. In those days I could sleep on rocks and they did not leave a dent in me.

No longer, I like a bed. In a house. A house with a heat-regulating device on the wall. It was in a nice house like this the other night that I recalled those golden days and made the rash promises.

"We slept right on the ground," I said. "And in the morning, you know what we did? We made bacon sandwiches. We packed them in our bags. And we went way up stream and fished down until dark."

"THEN WE COOKED the fish and ate them."
I had everybody's mouth watering as I described the taste of trout over mountain mahogany coals.

I also recall that the mornings were brisk. And the water we waded in was fed by snow and was colder than billy-o.

If I have to do that again, they can start cutting off my dog tags.

THE ONLY THING that gives me hope is the march of progress. There has been a great deal more comfort in our lives in recent years. The camping dodge has not been neglected.

You can buy a tent with a screened-in front porch for a couple of hundred. And Abercrombie and Fitch will tuck you into a sleeping bag, warm down to 20 degrees below, for another C-note.

WE HAVE ELECTRIC heaters and electric anti-insect lights. The smart camper this year will carry a portable ice box, an air mattress and foam rubber pillows. He will pack a folding washstand with a removable plastic bowl. And he will shave himself with a spring-driven razor. (If the battery in the car will stand it, he can plug the razor into the lighter socket and do it as electrically as if he were at home.)

ALL OF THIS would have horrified me when I was doing my stint with Nature. But now these things seem kind of natural—natural and NICE.

"And can we make fire without matches? Like you said?"
"Did I say that?" I asked nervously. "Of course we will have to find a certain kind of wood—just the right kind of wood. However," I said happily, "if we do NOT find that kind of wood, the camping stores also advise that you carry a patent fire starter."

WE MUST ALSO take with us an axe. Though I have been looking at the ads. And do you know you can buy a whole bag of charcoal for practically nothing. Take that with you, add some fire starter and you get away from an awful lot of chopping.

"But we will sleep on the ground!"
Yes, absolutely. We will sleep on the ground, on which we will place the air mattress, the foam of down. And possibly a Beauty rubber pillows, the sleeping bag Rest cot.

I am all for roughing it. But I've been sick lately.

GRIN AND BEAR IT By LICHTY

"Is disturbing thought, comrade . . . Is possible making payments on such a standard of living is making capitalists tougher than we are!"

EARL WILSON:

Miss Bardot Has a Complaint

CANNES, France — The Beautiful Wife and I flew over here for the Riviera's biggest show, the Cannes Film Festival — and while we were doing the Cannes-Cannes, something most unusual happened.

We heard women speaking well of Brigitte Bardot.
Because of Miss Bardot's manner of undress, women don't usually talk too respectfully of her. But we discovered that BB had ducked the big festival because she did not want to spoil it for Kim Novak, Sophia Loren, Rhonda Fleming and Zsa Zsa Gabor.

"Brigitte knew she would steal the show and it would not be nice of her especially when she does not have a picture entered in the festival," declared her producer, Raoul Levy.

And so BB stayed at St. Tropez. About an hour from here, but though she has a villa there, BB is not happy.

Why isn't BB happy? She is bothered by fans. They can't get up to her house by road because it is private and closed — so they come up to her villa in boats. And that prevents BB from going swimming near her villa. BB, when she swims, naturally likes to swim naturally — in the nude! How else would Brigitte Bardot swim?

And because she swims in the nude, fans come in boats, and because fans come in boats, she can't swim in the nude. BB is reported sulking about how unkind Fate has been to her.

An international film festival is a great test for the delegates' stomachs.

The Czechs served slibovitz, the Mexicans served tequila, the Poles served Polish vodka, the French served champagne, and the Japanese — oh, were they smart! — they served scotch.

Romances really blossomed under the silvery moon.

Rhonda Fleming was about with a Prince Borghese, and Dawn Adams, who has an Italian Count, was about with somebody else. Jorge Guinle, the Brazilian millionaire, got a yacht to squire Marsha Hyer across to Monte Carlo for the Grand Prix auto races where he and Marsha had lunch with his son and his ex-wife Dolores in the most civilized fashion.

Martha then had to fly back to New York to start shooting the "Best of Everything" film, and she was undoubtedly mighty pleased with her trip here because several people said she was the prettiest girl at the party.

We didn't see it but we heard there was a Rolls-Royce station wagon here. When this was mentioned to Paddy Chayefsky, he groaned — "This will come as a blow to Harold Hecht, the Hollywood producer. He has one of the six Cadillac station wagons in the world."

Said Paddy further: "But the funniest thing to me is that Kim Novak thought she was coming to the festival incognito!"

It was a real pleasure here to see all the acclaim being given to Spanish flamenco dancer Antonio, now generally described as "the greatest dancer in the world." (What ever happened to Fred Astaire?) He is appearing in his first movie, "The Honey-moon." Anyway, the B.W. and I used to know him when he was half of the act of Rosalie and Antonio, and they rehearsed in an apartment over ours at 162 W. 54th St., across from Max's Stage Deli.

If we had known he was going to be called the greatest in the world, we never would have yelled at him in those days to "Stop that dancing upstairs!"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y.: Eddie Fisher and Liz spent part of their honeymoon getting dental work done in N.Y. . . . Audrey Meadows returned from L.A. with the mink coat Harry Karl bought for 15Gs at a H'wood benefit auction . . . Carol Channing, hoping to end Marlene Dietrich's feud with her, sent a gift when Marlene opened at the Las Vegas Sahara . . . Xavier Cugat and Abbe Lane will make a TV pilot film — titled "Mr. and Mrs. Cugat" — for George Burns' company.

Arthur Godfrey's former vocal-ist Lu Ann Simms (Mrs. Loring Buzzell) is expecting another child . . . Zsa Zsa Gabor's fuming at Cannes reporters who described her figure as "too generous" . . . Actress Gale Robbins and her husband hope their reconciliation try will work . . . Greta Garbo ducked out of a local restaurant when patrons recognized her . . . Zhiva Rodann, former Miss Israel, is in "Last Train From Gun Hill" — playing an Indian squaw.

Walter Pidgeon — who went to H'wood as a singer, and sang very little there — will have four songs in the B-way musical, "Ah, Wilderness" . . . Teen-age singer Pearl Anka is dating Anneta Funicello, ex-Mickey Mouseketeer . . . Nat (King) Cole returned from a South American tour, opened in Las Vegas . . . Andy Williams, flying to L.A., will dog-sit for Joan Crawford's poodles on the flight.

EARL'S PEARLS: People seldom think alike—until it comes to buying wedding presents.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Most of us spend a lifetime going to bed when we're not sleeping and getting up when we are.

MIKE CONNOLLY:

Biggest Movie Since GWTW

HOLLYWOOD — Everyone get set for the biggest movie since "Gone with the Wind" in every sense of the word. That movie is "Ben-Hur." The panorama, glamour, excitement, majesty of a classic might well surpass anything ever done on film. It is 20 years since "GWTW" and the technical advancements in movie making alone should make "B-H" one of the movies of all time.

When you consider that you, the public, will see the cream of TEN hours of film trimmed down to four, you might get prepared for one of the biggest entertainments in movie history. No expense is being spared in publicizing "Ben-Hur." Five paperback editions will hit the stalls in July and Harper Bros. is coming out with a deluxe edition. Even the kiddies have been remembered with a comic book and a super Golden Book edition!

FRANK SINATRA screened "Ask Any Girl" and got so excited about Shirley MacLaine that he wants her for his next two movies: "Can-Can" and "Devil-May-Care."

Sandy Meisner, head of New York's Actors' Studio, sent an actor out to Hollywood by the name of Paris Moschopolis! Could it be that someone so thoroughly indoctrinated in the history of theatre and motion pictures thinks that Mr. Moschopolis should keep that name?

The fine print in a star's new contracts call for the services of a "feather man"—to diffuse the lights for her closeups through an ostrich plume, thereby keeping her as beautiful as always. It can add another 10 years on to a performers' acting-life.

DONALD O'CONNOR says he knows that Jayne Mansfield got to the top because her dresses didn't.

Next week, Rod Taylor starts in "Time Machine"—one of the most fantastic movies to be made. The Third World War will be Rod's co-star in this year spanning the years 1900 to 800,000! Peggy Lee just recorded one tune for the movie: "Land of the Leal." The music score will include everything from the middle thru the cakewalk.

Bunny Hug, Big Apple to the 800,000 A. D. Cha-Cha.

WITH BILL HOLDEN talking up his two-year residence in Switzerland, it means he'll still only be able to keep 25 per cent of his movie earnings during that period.

Fox Studio sent us a perfumed stay from May Britt's "Blue Angel" corset that snapped back when we opened the envelope and smacked us in the kisser!

CHANNEL CHATTER: With all this TV Academy Award overhaul, we're wondering why there has never been an award for announcers who sell the products that pay the freight that sustains the shows that otherwise wouldn't be around to qualify for Emmys.

They might get in trouble, there, too, with categories like Best Low-Pressure Seller, Best Fender-Pounding Seller, the Best of a Comedy series and Western series along with the Bravest Spieler—the one who refuses to wear a toupee or contact lenses or doesn't blink when that baseball hits that invisible shield.

THE FAN MAIL battle royal at Warner's between Jim Garner and Edd Byrnes finds Jim out in front, this week by half a stack!

Looks like those Quiz shows will be back sooner than you think! That NY Grand Jury can't find enough evidence for a single conviction.

Maybe "Peter Gunn" was "too new" on the TV screen to get any Emmys this year, but in any event producer-writer-director Blake Edwards is going to be another "joinee" when he quietly starts working on a new Western series.

CHARACTER ACTOR Bill Demarest, whose "Love and Marriage" series is all sold and set to go this fall, confides to pals that he made more money on a stock market killing this month "than I've made in TV and features over the past 10 years."

Believe us, the initial segment of Warner's new "The Alaskans" series calls for an alcoholic elk which sashays in and out of a saloon and guzzles beer! . . . They're naming the antlered one "Lawrence Elk!"

You can't tear producer-director Hal Bartlett away from his TV set these nights. That's the only way he can cast the 87 rugged males for his Alan Ladd-Sidney Poitier Korean War movie, "All the Young Men."

Bartok, Hindemith Together on Angel LP

Mathis der Maler, Hindemith. Divertimento for String Orchestra, Bartok. Philharmonic Orchestra, Constantin Silvestri, conducting. Angel Records, $4.98.

In Europe today, Constantin Silvestri is regarded by many musicians as the finest conductor on the Continent. He is acknowledged as a deeply sensitive man with a reverence for the masters of the past and an eagerness for the works of contemporaries.

In this Angel release, Silvestri groups major works by two of the most continuously controversial of the composers of our time.

THE DIVERTIMENTO is purest, classical Bartok. In it, he separates two vividly joyful movements with a mellow adagio that has emotional involvement that are not present in most of Bartok's orchestral works.

THE MATHIS DER MALER was written by Hindemith as a eulogy for 16th century artist Mathis Grunewald. It is an orchestral rendering—a "symphony," as it were — of three of the seven scenes from the opera of the same name.

This is not, however, simply a set of excerpts. Hindemith selected these three portions himself and, following a long-established personal tradition, I'd not like to take exception to the composer's judgment in this sort of thing.

The opera's overture becomes the first "movement" of the symphony, the finale becomes the second movement, and the sixth scene becomes the middle movement. (I find it difficult to tell if this is upsetting to those who have heard the opera. I have not.)

THIS IS AN UNUSUALLY musical Hindemith. Over the years, there has been a clique of musicians growing in this country and throughout the world with the German master as a focal point for their lack of comprehension. It is entirely possible that these persons will find much to admire in the structure of this "symphony" version of the one-time violinist's opera.

In one phase of this work — The Temptation of Saint Anthony — there is a fearsome massing of orchestral sound. It is at once a tribute to the ability of Grunewald to motivate Hindemith, and of Hindemith to fashion a coherent statement.

Unfortunately, only one of the three paintings by Grunewald—the entire triptych resides in the Unterlinden Museum at Colmar, near the St. Anthony's Church at Isenheim for which it was created—appears on the jacket of this Angel LP and in such poor reproduction as to be almost indiscernible. It is possible, however, to gauge the power of Grunewald's brush to a limited degree but reproduction of all three would have aided the effort.

Summary: Two unusual pieces of music by two unusual composers. Both excellently done by a fine orchestra under a distinguished conductor. A handsome addition to any music-lover's library.—George Laine.

First Steak Luau Is Big Success

All the charm and atmosphere of the Islands was transplanted to the Sunrise Way home of the Sam Blacks Sunday evening when Palm Springs Chapter of B'nai B'rith held their first annual Steak Luau to raise money for their charity fund.

Blossoming oleanders, surrounding the walled garden, swayed gently in the balmy night air while torches and lanterns lit up the garden, decorated in the island motif.

Around 250 members and guests, dressed in Hawaiian garb, feasted on delicious barbecued steaks served with pineapple, and chef's salad at tables set up around the pool.

Pat Barbara's orchestra played background music during dinner and, later, for dancing on the patio.

Delightful entertainment was provided by Marta Scott and her troupe who performed several authentic island dances with a complete change of costume for each number. Jeanne Keller who is well-known around town for her rollicking songs, accompanied herself on the piano, and was a big hit, as was Ronnie Knowles from San Bernardino, who sang several songs with the Pat Barbara orchestra.

Chairman for the luau was Jerry Zwerner and his committee members were: Messrs and Mmes. Jules Sherman, H. M. Frankel, Maury Pavy, Jack Auerbach, Morris Teitelbaum, David Lager, Dave Giller, Joseph Fahn, Marty Cobin, Abe Schwartz. Also Mrs. Sam Black and Bess Emanuel.

Among the many enjoying the evening were Messrs. and Mmes. Bob Tarr, David Giller, Sam Franks, Arthur Greenfield, Charles Kabaker, Phil Siegel, Stan Rosin, Zachary Pitts, Marty Cobin, Maury Pavy, Abe Schwartz, Jules Sherman, Jack Auerbach, H. M. Frankel, Allen Harris, Jack Kosbie, Dr. and Mrs. Michael Ades, Rabbi and Mrs. Joseph Hurwitz, Mrs. Bea Marks, Mrs. Rena Spears.

Also: Mr. and Mrs. Bert Townor of San Bernardino (he is vice president of American National Bank) and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Simon of Los Angeles (past president of B'nai B'rith of Southern California Council), and many, many more.

Everyone thought Costellos' Mexican Party was the last party before people began to scatter for the summer ... but it isn't ... That's what we thought last May too ... and then Jan King came up with the mad Polar Bear party in June ... This year she's doing it again ... for she and her sister Pat Wright have invitations going out for an ILPOTS Party Friday night at the Paseo de Marla house ... This is a contraction for "impromptu last party of the season" ... in Jan's own inimitable style ... and it's the casual type party ... with one restriction ... no one is to come all "dolled up" ... The penalty for that is a 49 cent fine ... and six weeks confinement on Frank Muller's yacht the Mojo during the best sailing season ... so it might turn out to be quite dressy ...

Joni Blashek dug out a pair of stadium boots she's been storing for the past five years since she and Bob moved to Palm Springs ... so she will be that much ahead in outfitting a family that's attuned to California and the Palm Springs way of life ... when they move to New York ... This won't be an easy move for Joni ... who went all through high school here ... but it is a good move for Bob ... who will be with E.F. MacDonald Company.

The Blasheks had just put in a swimming pool ... for they didn't leave Palm Springs even in the summertime ... and the grandparents, Margolis are going to miss the three youngsters ... all Californians, of course ... It will be a wrench ... but they are already looking ahead and planning ... and in June Joni and Bob go east to find a place to live ... possibly around the Scarsdale computers area ... They will be moving in July ... and the best wishes of their many friends go with them ... Joni says she's going to put her Desert Circus clothes in mothballs and come back every Easter ...

D.A.R. Officers Installed at Dessert Tea

Cahuilla Chapter DAR met at the home of Mrs. Saul Ruskin on Thursday for a delectable dessert tea of cake, ice cream and tea, served by the hostess. A business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Ray Rodney Jones.

Elected officers for the ensuing year were installed by Mrs. Daniel H. McCauley. They are: Mrs. William E. Froom, Regent; Mrs. Ray Rodney Jones, 1st Vice Regent; Mrs. Fred A. Nitchy, 2nd Vice Regent; Mrs. Howard M. Jay, Chaplain; Mrs. George Brummer, recording secretary; Mrs. Saul Ruskin, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Herbert Foster, treasurer; Mrs. Florence Bacon, registrar; Mrs. Redmond P. Hogan, assistant registrar; Mrs. Ralph C. Webster, historian and librarian.

An instructive, interesting and thought-provoking program was given by Mrs. August Karl Paul on National Defense.

"American Music" was the program conducted by the hostess. She chose music by two American composers, First, "Fords Theater" by Ernest Bacon, then "Appalachian Suite" by Aaron Copland, who also wrote, "The Second Hurricane." It was the first American Opera written especially for performance by School children.

Mrs. Ruskin read interesting articles of other composers, two of which were taken from the Desert Sun, dated August 9, 1958 and February 28th, 1959.

those divine baked potatoes ... that Billie and Ron Ellis have been beguiling their guests with ... I can tell you their secret ... Ron says it's reminiscent of boyhood culinary methods ... when you just poked the potatoes into the bonfire and go off and leave them ...

Actually it's a little different ... First you scrub the spuds ... and then you lay them on the barbecue over the glowing charcoal ... and cook them about an hour ... and they come out with a smoky taste ... Devotees of the Ellis method say that any old kind of a steak will taste good with these potatoes ...

Ron and Billie left this week for Stockton ... en route to New York where they will attend the International Rotary Club convention ... Then they plan to cruise up and down the eastern seaboard ... from Maine to Florida ... and won't be home before September ... During their absence their daughter and her husband Allan G. Bond and their three youngsters will occupy their house ...

Everyone who has ever been active in Desert Circus work will be sorry to hear that Leo Fields has presided at his last Kangaroo Court ... that he'll never pound the gavel again or pronounce another fine ...

I don't know any details ... but friends tell me that Leo answered the final summons which must come to each one of us ... Just about Desert Circus time this year ... With him goes some of the fabulous legends of early Desert Circuses ...

Post Card Department: Frank Muller writes that the marlin fishing at LaPaz, Mexico is sensational ... Leo Carrillo was there too ... with the group which included Charlie Farrell, Jack Fugit, Alan Tomlin, Bob George ... Mickey Finn ... from Kansas City ... where he's been making a western ... "Yes I got shot" ... goes on up into the Ozarks on location ...

Mitch Hamblurg (well-known in theatrical circles and owner of the Hamblurg Agency in Los Angeles) left for New York after spending a few days in his Palm Springs home ...

Houseguesting with him while here ... was New Yorker Lee Marshall, executive for Continental Baking ... who handle Wonder Bread and the new Profile ... Marshall liked Palm Springs too ... and may look for a house here himself ...

AAUW Ends Year With Potluck

Coral Tree restaurant, loaned for the occasion by Mrs. Margaret Taylor, was the delightful setting for a dinner meeting of the American Association of University Women. Husbands and wives were invited to join the group for the pleasant affair which was the final meeting of AAUW until next fall. The diningroom had a festive air with candles and flowers on the tables.

Although the dinner was planned as a potluck, the Taylors furnished a delicious chicken caccatoria as well as several other dishes all arranged buffet style.

After the dinner, the AAUW president Mrs. Frederick Morrison greeted the members and thanked each one for helping make the year so successful. In closing she wished each a pleasant summer.

Chairman for the dinner was Mrs. Robert Schnabel, and her committee members were Mmes. Bruce Walter, John Dill, Len Owens and Howard Matthews.

SUBDIVISION LAW HEARING DELAYED

—Once again action on the proposed new county subdivision ordinance was postponed following this week's hearing before the board of supervisors, this time to July 27 at 10 a.m.

The 40-day postponement was decided upon after various suggestions but delay had been made, with all under 40 days objected to as not sufficient to allow proper publicity of the ordinance.

A SKEALIE GROUP appeared at the hearing, with more drifting in "bitter" in the day in the belief the hearing was to have been held at 1:30 p.m. This was a marked contrast to the first hearing, April 20, when only one subdivider appeared. Growing interest was indicated, too, by the numerous letters, mostly seeking delay.

Common to this week centered around the definition of "Land Division" in Article IV of the ordinance, which deals with land divisions.

THE STRONGEST sentiment expressed came from the lips of W. E. Carter of Mosser Rock & Sand in Indio. "I consider this ordinance vicious," stormed Carter. "It should be thrown out entirely. It places too much control in the hands of one man. The planning commission is an invisible government and can't be voted out."

F. A. Stevens, Corona councilman, agreed with Carter that the ordinance would give too much police power to the planning commission.

MARVIN KRANTZ of Desert Hot Springs, the lone subdivider who appeared at the first hearing on the ordinance, declared: "I've read the ordinance. To be realistic, it is a necessary evil in the time in which we live." He objected, however, to the section dealing with land division. "It is a great handicap," he declared "and should be left out."

Earl Roberts of the Riverside Title Co. expressed the opinion that the ordinance is necessary, but he suggested that the board consider enactment in several parts, instead of all at once, publishing each part as it comes up. As to land division, he declared, "It is necessary, but leave it out until the people become better acquainted with the principal."

ROBERTS DEPLORED, as did many others, the lack of copies of the voluminous ordinance and urged that more be made available so that it can be widely read and understood.

The supervisors incorporated in the ordinance provisions suggested by Flood Control Engineer John Bryant, and ordered that new copies be made, including these additional provisions, but no specific number of copies was mentioned.

Among those writing letters to the board urging delay to allow widespread publicity before a final decision is made were Byron S. Phillips, president of the Coachella Valley Board of Realtors, Indio, T. H. Crane, president of the Palm Desert Sales Company, Carl Henderson, Harry W. Holt, and Roy E. St. Leon, as individual realtors in Palm Desert.

A large delegation of Palm Springs Realtors attended the meeting.

DESERT HOT SPRINGS

By ELLEN SAUNDERS

Seventeen-year-old Johnny Ledwon, famed young organist, and former Desert Hot Springs resident, made his 197th public appearance on Friday when he played at a dinner honoring the Swedish Ambassador, Gunnar Jaarung. Edgar Bergen emceed the affair which took place at the Los Angeles Biltmore.

Dr. James Compton, president of the Desert Hot Springs Chamber of Commerce, attended an all day meeting of the State Chamber of Commerce in Hesperia on Tuesday. According to Dr. Compton, the State Chamber is showing an increasing interest in problems confronting the desert areas.

Enjoying the luau at the Shadow Mountain Club on Thursday evening were the Hans Kleijungs and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sanders of Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Hill of Ocean-side, and the Al Hortons of Desert Hot Springs.

The restaurant formerly owned by Vernon Seales has been bought by Mrs. Estelle Fraser, a former Los Angeles cafe owner. The Fraser's decision to settle here permanently came after they had tried several desert areas and found this climate to be the most beneficial for their 9-year-old son's health.

Friends of the N.A. Bertrams have just received word that the popular couple are now touring Spain and will not be home before July 15.

The four generations represented by the honoree and her family included her daughter, Mrs. Frances McGee, grandson, Jack Morey, granddaughter, Mrs. Grace Tarbutton and four great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Carleton Williams returned to her home in Santa Monica on Friday after spending the week with Mrs. C. M. Markell, Mrs.

Mr. and Mrs. Mischa Bogart of Palo Alto relaxed for two weeks at the El Reposo Motel before leaving Wednesday on an extended motor tour of the United States. The Bogarts (he's a prominent scientist) have been coming to the desert for the past six years.

Word has been received from Asbury Park, N. J., that Mrs. John (Gussie) Young, who severely sprained both ankles in a recent fall, has been discharged from the hospital but is still wearing a cast on one leg. The Youngs left here several weeks ago on a business trip to the east.

Recent guests at the Atlas-Hi Lodge (formerly the Ma-Ha-Ya) included Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Evers, of Ross, Calif. The Evers (he's a prominent San Francisco architect), are now en route to Lake Tahoe to open their summer home.

The Gilbert Holloways recently learned that their son, Dr. Gilbert M. Holloway, will fly to England in June where he will give a month-long series of lectures on Metaphysics. Dr. Holloway, who is pastor of the New Age Church in Miami, Fla., formerly lectured in this area and has many friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron E. Eaton spent Sunday at the Sandpiper in Laguna Beach as guests of Mrs. Eaton's sister and brother-in-law, the O. A. Carlsons, who recently purchased the well known apartment hotel. The Carlsons will divide their time between the Sandpiper and their home in Alhambra with an occasional visit here to manage their desert properties.

Word has just been received from Chicago that Miss Pearl Rosser, sister of Mrs. Grace Pedersen, has been named president of the Baptist Missionary Training School of that city. Miss Rosser, who is expected to visit here later this summer, holds the responsibility for both administrative and academic leadership of the school.

On Friday evening 60 members of the Desert Hot Springs Rotary Club and their wives enjoyed a fish fry at Whitewater. Victor Pales, 47, of Hotel Victoria, was injured early Tuesday morning after his car turned over at Windy Point, just north of the City of Palm Springs.

California Highway Patrol officers said that Pales apparently lost control of his 1958 model car on the turn and rolled over against the mountain about a mile south of Tipton Road.

Pales, an art dealer was treated at Desert Hospital for cuts on the left arm, elbow and knee, and after X-rays and treatment of the minor cuts, was released and sent home.

The commercial forests of California contain enough sawtimber to build 35 million new houses.

U.S. Open Puts Sam In Freeze

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—Golf's sentimentalists are agog today over Sam Snead's latest tournament triumph, nurturing once again the hope that The Slammer at long last can win the elusive U. S. Open championship.

Sam proved that, at 47, he still is one of the fairway greats by taking the Sam Snead Festival at White Sulphur Springs with a 21-under-par total. Featured by an 11-under-par 59, it was an amazing performance.

But this is not the U.S. Open. To understand Slammin' Sam and the only big title he has never won, you have to probe the inner workings of an athlete's mind. It is like Ted Williams, the ramrod of the Boston Red Sox, trying to overcome the jinx which Yankee Stadium always seems to pose for his hitting exploits.

IN OTHER BALL PARKS, Williams is relaxed and you could jerk the bat out of his hands with a quick pull. Casey Stengel observed, "But when he's at bat in the stadium he grips the bat so hard that you think he's gonna make sawdust out of the handle."

That's Snead, a picture of relaxed grace and power everywhere—except when he steps up to the tee in the Open.

This was Sam's 101st tournament triumph in a quarter century of big time competition. During that time he has won them all—except the U. S. Open. Four times he has been a disappointed second, once losing in a playoff. Another time he blew it on the final hole with a horrendous eight. Small wonder he makes leather pulp out of the grips of his clubs, when he goes forth in the Open.

THERE IS ANOTHER factor which escapes the casual glance in this smashing victory he posted at White Sulphur Springs. This is that Sam has been striding those familiar fairways since he was a barefooted youngster plus the fact that this isn't exactly the toughest golf course in the world. A good one, yes, but not a stretched-out torture rack such as they make annually of the Open course.

Yet, as hot as The Slammer undoubtedly is right now, the worst days are those separating him from tee time in the Open. These are the days—and nights—when he plays every hole of every disastrous Open he has competed in during the past.

THERE IS STILL another factor in the case of Slammin' Sam. Almost annually he comes up with some ache or pain, illness or injury as the field gathers for the big one. They are, most times, psychosomatic. Sam, a psychiatrist once observed, is unconsciously preparing his newest alibi. If he could go out and play the Open like any other tournament—like the Sam Snead Festival, for instance—he still could win it going away.

But he doesn't, and this latest victory drives home the point all over again.

"Sweet Swinger" prizes went to Bob McLernan, Stan Woodward, Drew Weiner, Bonnie Muhlbardt, Barbara Jo Graves and Jan Svoboda, the best putter.

Anderson said the classes will be resumed next year.

Anderson took the occasion at the closing session to thank The Desert Sun for the donation of prizes to the winners.

Redlands Racer Dies After Crash At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Auto racing officials today spoke with growing remorse in being unable to account for the second death within 72 hours of drivers qualifying for the 500-mile Memorial Day race.

Rookie driver Bob Cortner died Tuesday night at Methodist Hospital, about seven hours after his new roadster crashed into the concrete retaining wall at the Indianapolis Speedway, where only last Sunday Jerry Unser died in a fiery crash.

Cortner, 32, a veteran midget driver from Redlands, Calif., was practicing at the 2½-mile oval when he lost control of his car in the northeast curve and slammed almost head-on into the wall at about 130 miles an hour.

THE WORLD UPSIDE DOWN

Slumping Yanks May Drop to Last Today

NEW YORK (UPI)—This could be the day that staggers the imagination — the day the proud, world champion New York Yankees fall into last place.

It will happen if the Yankees lose their day game to the Detroit Tigers, current tenants of the cellar, who Tuesday night handed the champs their fifth loss in their last six games, 6-3, behind lefty Don Mossi.

It's a situation never dreamed of in the pre-season dope, when the Yankees were favored to repeat as American League champs.

And, in his hour of desperate need, manager Casey Stengel finds himself calling on the littlest Yankee of them all—Bobby Shantz — to hold off the barbarians at the gate. Stengel had planned to pitch World Series hero Bob Turley, but the burly Turley needs more rest.

"I thought we did our best hitting in a long time last night," sighed Stengel. "But when we got the hitting we didn't get the pitching."

That's a sad, familiar story to

Hillsdale, Table Top Nominees in Gold Cup Field

INGLEWOOD (UPI)—Hillsdale and Round Table today headed a list of 65 horses nominated for the $162,100 Hollywood Gold Cup at Hollywood Park July 11.

Round Table was a doubtful entry, however, because of his summer campaign in Chicago, thus leaving Hillsdale the probable pre-race favorite.

Other nominees included Terrang, Big Brush, Silky Sullivan, Silver Spoon and Amerigo.

Carless Curl won Tuesday's $15,000 Goose Girl Stakes in front of Syd Brand and Kiddle Book. The winner ran the six-furlong course in 1:09 3/5 and returned $24.60. The shoe won the co-favored $6,000 Signet Purse.

Machen Favored Over Vargas 9-5

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Eddie Machen and Reuben Vargas, a pair of heavyweights with title aspirations, tangled in tonight's national TV battle at the Cow Palace—with Machen installed a 9-5 favorite.

Amid charges that "we expect officials to favor Machen," the camp of Vargas predicts a knock-out for their man.

Pomona Edges Tribe 2 to 1 In First CIF Playoff Game

Eliminate P.S. From Tourney

Palm Springs High School was eliminated in the first round of California Interscholastic Federation Double A playoffs yesterday at Pomona when Pomona-Catholic of the Parochial League edged them 2 to 1 in a tight game in which Indian mistakes aided the winners who took quick advantage of them.

The Tribe took an early lead in the game when Marty Beck walked and Stan Cirata and Len Ruiz laid down perfect drag bunts to load the bases. Terry Stalland, Pomona pitcher, then walked Joe Lewis to force in a run.

BUT THEIR 1-0 lead faded in the fifth when Leroy Segundo issued the only walk he gave up in the game. With two down, Chris Lopez, Pomona catcher, lined a single to center which got away and rolled to the fence, one run scoring and Lopez going to third. Stalland beat out a high hopper and Lopez scored with the winning run.

In the top of the seventh Berk and Cirata hit back to back singles but a double play nipped the rally.

SEGUNDA ALLOWED only four hits, walked one and fanned three. The loss dropped Coach George Scholl's Riverside County League champions out of CIF competition. Yesterday's line score:

Palm Springs 001 009 0-1 6 0
Pomona 000 020 x-2 4 0
Segundo and Lewis; Stalland and Lopez.

Charley Jordan Wins Honors at Gonzaga Univ.

Charles Jordan, former Palm Springs High School basketball star who won many honors in the Riverside County League while playing with the Indian championship team of a few years back, won more honors at Gonzaga University, Spokane, this week.

Jordan received one of the top athletic awards at Gonzaga at a special pre-graduation assembly held at the university.

He was awarded the basketball "Inspirational Award."

REJOINS OLD BOSS

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI)—Roland Arriagui will rejoin his old boss, Tom Nugent, when he takes over as freshman football coach at the University of Maryland June 1.

Village Softballers Win 2 From 29 Palms Marines

Dave Martinez, Neal Green Hot On the Mound

David Martinez of the Mexican Colony and Neal Green of Biltmore Hotel softball teams put on an exhibition of tight pitching last night at the Polo Grounds as two Village teams downed two Twenty-nine Palms Marine base teams by identical 2 to 1 scores.

In the first game of the double-header, Mexican Colony defeated their Marine opponents 2 to 1 on the two-hit pitching of Martinez.

Vic Reyes, Colony catcher, had two for four and knocked in both of the winning runs.

IN THE NIGHTCAP, Green was at peak form and limited the top Marine All Star team to one hit. Charley Black, Biltmore Hotel catcher, also had two hits for four at bats, to bat in both of the runs.

Last night's scores:

First game
Twenty-nine Palms 1 2 1
Mexican Colony 2 5 1
Thomas and Jones; Martinez and Reyes.

Second game
Twenty-nine Palms 1 1 0
Biltmore Hotel 2 8 0
Pollack and Mendon; Green and Black.

ORIOLES SURPRISE OF AMERICAN LEAGUE RACE

By MILTON RICHMAN, United Press International

"Nothing's impossible!"

That's Paul Richards' answer to those who are beginning to wonder whether the amazing Baltimore Orioles — now only 1½ games from the top — can win the American League pennant.

"I originally thought we might have a chance by 1961," said the elated Oriole manager after his team beat the White Sox, 2-1, Tuesday night. "Maybe I was being too conservative."

"The way we're playing now, we sure could fool a whole lot of people."

The odds-makers for one. They installed Baltimore a 100-to-1 shot at the start of the season, but in a quick switch the club now is officially listed at 15-to-1.

Winners of their last six games, the Orioles knocked the Indians out of first place Monday night and did the same thing to the White Sox Tuesday night. Cleveland moved back into the lead with a 5-2 victory over Washington.

The last place Tigers handed the staggering Yankees their fifth loss in six games, 6-3, while the game between the Athletics and Red Sox was postponed because of rain.

In the National League, the Braves won their sixth straight by beating the Giants, 8-1; the Dodgers snapped a five-game losing streak with a 6-4 decision over the Redlegs; the Cardinals topped the Pirates, 8-2; and the Cubs outlasted the Phillies, 8-7.

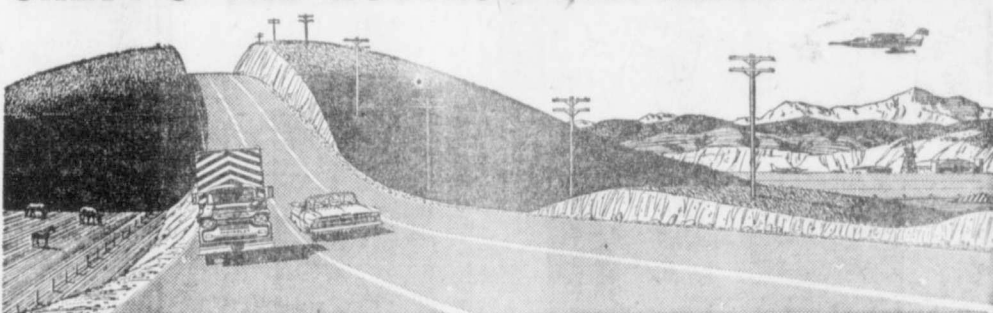

Joey Jay of the Braves held the Giants to seven hits and struck out the same number in gaining his second victory. By winning, Milwaukee increased its NL lead to 4½ games.

Mrs. Weissmuller in Lead in L.A. Event

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mrs. Allene Weissmuller of Lakeside led today going into the second round of the 28th annual Los Angeles City Women's Golf Meet at Rancho Municipal Course.

Mrs. Weissmuller carded a three-over-par 36-41—77 in the opening round Tuesday to take a two-stroke lead in the three-day 54-hole event.

HOTTEST LOOKING, HOTTEST SAVING,

HOTTEST SELLING OF THE LEADING LOW-PRICED 3

What we mean—this new Chevy's whipped up a one-car heat wave. Its fresh style caught on right away, of course. But—whether you prefer a V8 or 6—where Chevrolet really leaves the other cars in the shade is out on the road. A pair of Chevy 6's came in one-two in their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run. And the winning average was 22.33 m.p.g.

Why not drop down to your dealer's and see for yourself why Chevy's this year's hottest selling car?

Dear Abby...

...by Abigail VanBuren

NEW COMMANDING OFFICER of the American Legion, 21st District, was installed in ceremonies at the Chi Chi Starlite Room Sunday, with Palm Springs Owen Coffman Post 519 acting as host. Pictured above are, left to right, Lloyd Higginson, outgoing district commander; Al Patane, local post commander, congratulating the two; and incoming Commander Dave Reeves. The local event was an all-day session, at which time campaigning was done for officers to be elected at the state convention in Hollywood next month. (Desert Sun Photo)

DEAR ABBY: You sure gave that girl a bum steer when she wanted to know if she should accept an engagement ring by mail. I was overseas in '42 and wanted to nail my girl down with an engagement ring, so I sent it to my best buddy at home and asked him to slip it on her finger for me. He did. But he didn't stop there. He ended up by marrying my girl.

VOICE OF EXPERIENCE
DEAR VOICE: That was your own fault. You should have known better than to send a rabbit to the store to bring home carrots.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married to a church-going hypocrite for nine years. I made my first mistake when I agreed to live with his mother. She's divorced, has a large comfortable home and my husband is her only child. She calls herself a Christian but is cruel beyond description. She told me she wished God would take her son as he'd be better off dead than married to a woman who can't give him children. The doctor says I've kept having miscarriages because I am in a constant nervous state. I'd dig ditches or scrub latrines if I could move out of this house, but my husband feels he owes his mother more than he owes me and he likes the money we're saving. What would you do?

LAST STRAW
DEAR LAST: A man should not be forced to choose between his wife and his mother, but in this case I'd throw the book at him. The Bible, "Therefore shall a man leave his father and mother and shall cleave unto his wife." (Genesis ii, 24.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband served time in a Federal Penitentiary. He is free now. His favorite sport was hunting. What I want to know is, is he allowed to get a permit to own a gun? Some say "yes" and some say "no." I'd appreciate an answer.

EX-CON'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: The law varies in different states. (It's easier to own a gun in Texas than it is in Illinois.) Get in touch with your District Attorney and let him acquaint you with the local law.

To get ABBY'S booklet, "What Every Teenager Wants to Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY in care of this newspaper.

FIRST PROM... FIRST ORCHID...

From first toddling step to first day at school to first prom to off-to-college... the milestone of growing up go past so fast... especially for parents! It seems it's always "later than we think." Which is why, of course, it's never too early to start to plan ahead and save ahead for the future success and happiness of our children.
